1. [REDACTED] telephoned to say that the Director would like to entertain Senator Symington and others for lunch on Monday, 10 December, following the award ceremony for George Carey. (The Office of Personnel has furnished Walt with a list of the senior citizens who have accepted invitations to the ceremony. The Director's office will take it from there.)

4. [REDACTED] telephoned to report on the results of today's meeting with the contractor, NPIC, and others to finalize the arrangements for the operational move [REDACTED] The contractor has until 31 December to complete his contract, and he wanted every day of that time. (Hence, we will not start moving NPIC operations prior to 31 December. So the score runs something like this--the construction is on schedule and will be finished by 31 December. There will be odds and ends to clean up for some time. NPIC will start moving that same day and will be in limited operation within 24 hours. They expect to have a full-scale operation going within five days. Of course, the pre-positioning of furniture has already started and will be completed prior to 31 December.) H
